WESTERN HOTEL,

NO. 288, MARKET STREET,

PHILADELPHIA.

Sign of Gen. Washington.

THE subscriber begs leave to inform his friends and the public, that he has taken what well known establishment in Market street next door to the Pittsburgh Mail Stage Office, and lately occupied by Mr. George Vohe. To those who have been accustomed to resort to this house, it is unnecessary to point out its superior advantages. For the information of others, however, he deems it proper to state that its situation is central, high, healthy and convenient to business; an extensive range of backbuildings, consisting of lodging rooms, afford a fine view of the city to the eastward, and admit of a free and uninterrupted circulation of air, and what will give them a decided preference in the opinion of many, is the attachment thereto of a kitchen, so constructed as not only to afford pleasant promenades, but easy means of escape in the event of necessity from any sudden alarm of fire. The great Western Stages start every morning from the door, and on the premises is one of the best Livery Stables in the city, conducted by Mr. John Tomlinson, where travellers' horses will be faithfully attended to. With these advantages, and some further improvements now making, added to his own unremitting exertions to please, the Subscriber confidently hopes for, and very respectfully solicits, a share public patronage.

R. SMITH.

Printers of the Lexington Gazette, Lexington, Ky.; Pittsburgh Gazette, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Western Spy, Cincinnati, Ohio, will please insert this advertisement once a week for three months, and forward their bills for payment to the Office of the "Union, &c." No. 50, Chestnut street, Philadelphia.

councillors. And no councillor shall be appointed to any office during the time for which he shall have been elected.

Article Five—Part Third.

SECRETARY.

Sec. 8. The secretary of state shall be chosen annually, at the first session of the legislature, by joint ballot of the senators and representatives in convention.

Sec. 2. The records of the state shall be kept in the office of the secretary, who may appoint his deputies, for whose conduct he shall be accountable.

Sec. 3. He shall attend the governor and council, senate and house of representatives, in person or by his deputies, as they shall respectively require.

Sec. 4. He shall carefully keep and preserve all the records of all the official acts and proceedings of the governor and council, senate and house of representatives, and shall, when required, lay the same before either branch of the legislature, and shall perform such other duties as are enjoined by this constitution, or shall be required by law.

Article Five—Part Fourth.

TREASURER.

Sec. 1. The treasurer shall be chosen annually, at the first session of the legislature, by joint ballot of the senators, and representatives in convention, but shall not be eligible more than five years successively.

Sec. 2. The treasurer shall, before entering on the duties of his office, give bond to the state with securities, to the satisfaction of the legislature, for the faithful discharge of his trust.

Sec. 3. The treasurer shall not, during his continuance in office, engage in any business of trade or commerce, or as a broker, or as an agent or factor, for any merchant or trader.

Sec. 4. No money shall be drawn from the treasury, but by warrant from the governor and council, and in consequence of appropriation made by law, and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money, shall be published at the commencement of the annual session of the legislature.

Article VI.

JUDICIAL POWER.

Sec. 1. The judicial power of this state shall be vested in a supreme judicial court, and such other courts as the legislature shall from time to time establish.

Sec. 2. The justices of the supreme judicial court shall, at stated times, receive a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office, but they shall receive no other fee or reward whatever.

Sec. 3. They shall be obliged to give their opinion upon important questions of law, or upon solemn occasions, when required by the governor, council, senate or house of representatives.

Sec. 4. All judicial officers, except justices of the peace, shall hold their offices during good behaviour, but not beyond the age of seventy years.

Sec. 5. Justices of the peace and notaries public, shall hold their offices during seven years, if they so long behave themselves well, at the expiration of which term, they may be reappointed or others appointed, as the public interest may require.

Sec. 6. The justices of the supreme judicial court shall hold no office under the United States, or any other state, or any office under this state, except that of justices of the peace.

Article VII.

MILITARY.

Sec. 1. The captains and subalterns of the militia, shall be elected by the written votes of their respective companies. The field officers of regiments by the written votes of the captains and subalterns of their respective regiments. The brigadiers general in like manner, by the field officers of their respective brigades.

Sec. 2. The legislature shall, by law, direct the time and manner of convening the electors, collecting the votes, and certifying to the governor the officers elected; and if the electors shall neglect or refuse to make such elections, after being duly notified according to law, the governor shall appoint suitable persons to fill such offices.

Sec. 3. The major general shall be chosen by the senate and house of representatives, each having a negative on the other. The adjutant general, and the commanders of forts and garrisons, shall be appointed by the governor and council. The major generals, the brigadiers general, and the commanding officers of regiments and battalions, shall appoint their respective staff officers.

Sec. 4. The militia as divided into divisions, brigades, regiments, battalions and companies, pursuant to the laws now in force, shall remain so organized, until the same shall be altered by the legislature.

Sec. 5. Persons of the denomination of quakers or shakers, shall be exempt from military duty; but no person except the justices of the supreme judicial court shall be exempted by reason of holding, or having held, any civil office, under this state without paying an equivalent.

Article VIII.

LITERATURE.

Foreign Intelligence.

FROM ENGLISH PAPERS.

For the greater part of the information contained in the following extract from English papers, we are indebted to a gentleman who has been good enough to forward to us from New York some English Gazettes of the latest date.—National Intelligencer.

From the London Morning Chronicle of Oct. 2, we learn, that the election for Lord Mayor of London had been warmly carried on for three days, and was not yet closed. On the 3d day, the polling, it is said, continued with great activity, and at three o'clock, the gross numbers were declared as follows:

For Alderman Bridges,	1,474
Alderman Thorpe,	1,276
Alderman Wood,	1,270

Loud disapprobation and applause continued for some time.

Rear Admiral H. Blackwood, Bart. has been appointed commander in chief in the East Indies, in the room of rear admiral Sir Richard King, coming home. Lieut. Price Blackwood to be his flag lieutenant. And Commodore Sir Thomas Hardy, to be commander in chief of the coast of South America, in the room of Commodore Bowles, returning to England from ill health. Lt. T. Bourchier to be his flag lieutenant.

The Paris Moniteur of the 28th September contains an ordinance, repealing one of the 3d of August, 1815, which suspended the exportation of grain. Mr. Farquhar, Governor General of the Isle of France, has received from the King the insignia of a commander of the royal order of the Legion of Honor.

The same paper mentions that a tumultuous scene took place on the 27th at the royal museum. The crowd, which was immense, was beginning to depart, when a cry of fire was raised near the entrance of the Grand Gallery. The spectators in consequence, hurried to get out, and several persons were thrown down and trampled upon, many ladies lost their shawls and their reticules, a number of persons were wounded, but fortunately none of them seriously. The cry of fire is supposed to have been raised by thieves.

German papers of the 24th of September state, that the plan of a constitution for the kingdom of Wirtemberg, as digested by the royal commissioners and those of the states, has been adopted by the assembly, with some trivial modifications.

The German papers also mention that the Queen of Sweden, under her incognito title of Countess Gotland, and her sister the Ex-Queen of Spain, under the title of Countess de Surville, have arrived at Brussels. The latter is to embark at Antwerp in the spring, to join her husband, Joseph Bonaparte, in the United States of America.

The Emperor of Russia, it is said, was to be crowned King of Poland in the month of October. The ceremony was to take place in the city of Warsaw.

The monthly agricultural report, dated Middlesex, Sept. 20th says—"With respect to aggregate products, the present is the most plentiful season which has occurred for many years, not only in this country, but throughout Europe. In most of the corn countries of which there is also a considerable stock of old wheat. Our last year's wheat considerably exceeds in quality the growth of the present; and, in course, fetches more money in the market. Rain is greatly wanted in the north, and water for the cattle, which have been driven miles for that necessary; the pastures are burnt up, and the stubbles bare. In other parts a far more favorable report; but, in all, rain is much wanted. Hops, a great and fine crop, with a prospect of a still greater reduction of price. In Scotland, most of the crops a full average.

On the 10th of September, a most severe storm took place at Parma, which caused great disasters. The harvest of maize and wine was totally destroyed. The cellars were inundated, and all the wine in them lost. There has not been so terrible a storm there within the memory of man.

LONDON, OCT. 2.

A Greek vessel has brought hither the important intelligence that the Ottoman Porte, convinced of the perfidious designs of Ali Pacha of Janina, and indignant at finding itself compromised with Russia, who had guaranteed by the treaty of the 21st of March, 1800, the political existence of Parga, under the jurisdiction of a Wáwode Chief of the four Cantons of the Terra Firma, has adopted a measure worthy of its policy and its good faith. By a Katib here, emanating from the Grand Seigneur, his sublime highness has commissioned Pacha Bey, a wealthy exile from Janina, and several of the principal Pacha of Romelia, to attack the rebel Ali. The vassals of Ali are invited to abandon him; the mosques and churches are placed under an interdict; and a reward is offered for his head. The Porte at the same time guarantees the safety of Ali's three sons, Mauctar, Veli, and Sik Pacha, provided they separate themselves from the cause of their father.

The outrages against the Jews at Copenhagen, according to the accounts from thence, appear to have exceeded those committed in any of the German cities. One unfortunate Jew was forced out of his carriage and stoned in open day, and it is said he subsequently died of his wounds. The secretary of an Advocate, who headed a mob that broke into the house of a Jew and threw the furniture into the street, has been condemned to imprisonment and hard labor for life. Several Jewish families have quitted Hamburg in consequence of the persecution against them in that city, to establish themselves at Altona; others are preparing to proceed to America.

A private letter from Frankfurt, in the Journal de Paris, gives nearly the same result of the conferences at Carlsbad, particularly with regard to the intended tribunal at Mayence, as appeared recently in the Gazette de France, with the addition that this tribunal will be subject to the influence of the great powers, that it is to try Sandt, and to decide upon the affair of the Prussian conspiracy. The new conferences at Vienna were, it is now said, to commence yesterday, and it seems as if the wisest course the ministers could pursue will be to annul what has been agreed upon at Carlsbad.

SCHWERIN, SEPT. 17.

Here two placards have been posted up, threatening the Jews; but, by adopting proper measures, all excesses have hitherto been prevented; strong patrols traverse the streets in the evening.

HAMBURG, SEPT. 23.

It is affirmed that his majesty the king of Saxony has granted to all persons of the Jewish religion, residing in his dominions, the right of citizen, though very urgent remonstrances against it have been presented by the shopkeepers. It is thus thought many rich Jewish families will be thus induced to settle in Saxony.

VIENNA, AUG. 13.

His majesty the emperor of Austria has appointed the Baron J. Von Weiss as ambassador in North America, and has granted him 10,000 ducats to defray the expenses of his journey, and 6000 for his salary. His excellency has faithfully fulfilled the places of commissary of the treasury, and contractor general for the army, during eighteen years. The baron will have the charge of the maritime affairs between the United States of America and Italy. His excellency took the oath, yesterday, of fidelity, previous to his embarkation, which will immediately take place, with his family and suite, at Trieste, for Philadelphia.

LONDON, OCT. 2.

We have before mentioned that negotiations were carried on between our government and that of Spain, for the purpose of supplying the former with 9,000,000 dollars from the Spanish South American colonies. These negotiations have, we understand, terminated, and the specie sought for by this government will be allowed to be transmitted to England from Vera Cruz, in British ships of war, as heretofore; but no part of the sum earlier than the ensuing year. The payments are to be made in bills on the English treasury, drawn by commissioners appointed for the purpose of carrying the agreement into effect.

Burns's Mausoleum, at Dumfries, is completed, by having the marble monument, by Turnerelli, erected in it. The subject is taken from the Bard's dedication, to the Caledonian Hunt, where he says, "My lords and gentlemen,—The poetic genius of my country found me, as the prophetic bard Elijah did Elisha—at the plough, and threw her inspiring mantle over me." A full length figure of Burns (the size of life) is represented standing between the handles of the plough; his attention appears arrested; he has the one hand on the plough, and with the other he holds the Scotch bonnet to his breast, and looks upward, with a steady attention, to the genius of poetry, who is hovering above, and in the act of drawing her flowing mantle so as to throw it over him; the genius seems beholding the bard with a look of placid satisfaction. The workmanship is excellent; the drapery of the female figure is very elegant, and produces a very light airy effect: the arms are in fine proportion, and the manner she holds the mantle is very graceful: one foot appears, the execution of which is admirable. The figure of the poet is many, and the expression of the countenance is good. Those who have seen Burns, perhaps will not be gratified in finding a very correct likeness, nor was it to be expected as none of the paintings or prints can be said to be a likeness, and the artist never saw the original.—The plough rests on the pedestal, and seems in the act of uttering a tuft of the mountain daisies. The whole group, of white statuary marble, rests against a back of dove-colored marble, and occupies a space of about 12 feet in height, and 7 in length. The only inscription is "BURNS."

Professor Mainicke, of the University of Halle, has succeeded in producing a beautiful illumination, by means of electricity and factitious air, which does not burn, but only shines, enclosed in glass tubes. As electricity and factitious air, which does not burn, but only shines, enclosed in glass tubes. As electricity may be propagated ad infinitum, it will in future be possible, by means of a single electrical machine, and application of the proper apparatus, to light up a whole city.

At Lancaster assizes, on Monday week, Mr. Attorney General, (Scarlet,) having hurried into Court without his gown and wig, apologized to his lordship, and expressed a hope that the time would come when these mumeries would be thrown away.

On Saturday se'night, Mrs. Wroe, the wife of Mr. Wroe, the publisher of the Manchester Observer, was held to bail, herself in 200l. and two sureties in 100l. each, for selling seditious and blasphemous pamphlets. Mr. Wroe has two shops; one in Market street, where a Jew conducts the business. After the arrest of Mrs. Wroe, a boy and shopman at Wroe's house were held to bail for rendering similar publications.

The following observations occur in the Dublin Evening Post, on the subject of the recent proceedings at Manchester.

"Much has been said of the Irish rebellion and of the French revolution; yet we do not recollect, in the whole history of the first, that ever a corps of yeomanry cut down nursing mothers, old women, and babies in their nurses' arms. We have heard of these things in a town taken by storm, in the wars between Turkey and Russia; but even in France there is not a single instance of a soldier distinguishing himself by sabring women. We have heard, too, of field preachers of sedition; but we never heard, until now, of a clergyman giving his signal to mow down his parishioners. It appears that a reverend gentleman read the riot act, or, at least, was ready to swear that he read it, a quarter of an hour, or half at most, at an audible distance, before the horsemen charged. England has the sole proud glory of witnessing these things! and we hope that, in any future animadversions upon the immorality and barbarism of Ireland, our worthy brethren will condescend to remember the Field of Peterloo! The hottest fury of the Irish rebellion can parallel nothing like it."

A synopsis of miscellaneous items from European Papers.

The exhumation of the body of Charles Bonaparte, father of Napoleon, and that of Louis Bonaparte, son of the Ex-King of Holland, took place at Paris, on the 19th of August. Their remains were taken from the chapel of the castle of Saint Leu-Tavernay to the vault of the village church. Don Cajol, the director of the Paraclete Convent, who died in 1817, at Verdun, bequeathed to the library in that town, a series of prayers in the hand writing of Abelard, which Heloise used at her devotions. Thos. Day, who is stated to be of such diminutive size as to be but the epitome of a man, was brought before the bar of the Mansion House, London, to answer a complaint against him for firing a pistol charged with gun-powder in a boy's eye that was looking through a hole which had been cut in his booth at St. Bartholomew Fair. When Mr. Day's name was called in court, he answered "there" in a voice like that of a frog, "I am Mr. Day," when the spectators turned their attention to where the voice seemed to come from, but could not see the culprit, until one of the officers raised him up and placed him on his arm, when Mr. Day addressed the Lord Mayor in the most theatrical manner, expressing his sorrow for what he had done, and complaining of the boy's cutting his booth and tormenting him. Mr. Day promised to pay damages, and the matter ended. In the Lord Mayor's address to him, he told Mr. Day, because he was small, he must not think himself so highly privileged as to blow people's eyes and brains out; but that if he liked, he could knock a man of six feet down with his fist, if he misused him. There was much laughter in court.

LATEST FROM LIVERPOOL.

By the arrival this morning of the ship Atlantic, captain Matarack, in 36 days from Liverpool, we have received Liverpool papers to the 2d of October inclusive. We have also received from our London correspondent, London papers and the general shipping commercial lists, both to the 30th of Sept. and the New Price Current to the 2d. The principal articles in our London papers were anticipated by the paper we received yesterday from our Boston correspondent.

Our latest Liverpool paper announces the safe return of Messrs. Livingston and Saddle, from their aerial excursion. The account of their voyage, which we have copied below, will be read with interest.

Return of Messrs. Livingston and Saddle.—No certain intelligence having reached the town of the fate of these intrepid aeronauts as late as Thursday evening, the public were beginning to be somewhat uneasy; but their anxiety was soon relieved by the receipt of several letters from Stockton-upon-Tees, in the county of Durham, near to which place, Messrs. Livingston and Saddle, alighted on the day of their departure from hence. Yesterday, at half past 12, the public were delighted to see them drive into town in a chaise and four; the postillions decorated with white ribbons, and the car tied to the top of the chaise. They drove through Church street, Lord street, Castle street, and Dye street, to the office of the Gas-Light Company, where they met several gentlemen of the committee appointed to conduct the ascent, to whom they gave a short account of their long and perilous voyage. At 3 o'clock they came in the same chaise to the Exchange, where they alighted and went into the news room, amidst an immense crowd of the merchants and gentlemen there assembled, by whom they were received with three cheers. They here gave a short account of their expedition and adventures, after which, they ascended into the Underwriter's room, where they were greeted with the same cordiality. A collection was immediately made, which soon amounted to a considerable sum.

We forbear from giving any detailed account of this very interesting excursion, at the request of the committee, under whose auspices a minute narrative of the whole will soon be published, who are well entitled to every incidental advantage that can be derived from it, not only on account of the trials and hazards they have undergone, but from the loss they are likely to sustain.

This is the longest aerial voyage ever made in Great Britain. The balloon ascended from Liverpool at a quarter past two o'clock, and alighted at five minutes past five, at the distance of about a mile and a half from the town of Stockton. In a space of two hours and fifty minutes, therefore, they traversed a distance of nearly 110 miles in a lineal direction, and if the undulations and aberrations of the machine are allowed for, it would make at least 170 miles. In the course of this voyage, they traversed some of the finest parts of the counties of York and Durham the views of which both gentlemen describe as sublime and enchanting beyond all description. At a height of nearly two miles from the earth, they took their refreshment, and drank the health of the sovereign, and prosperity to the town and trade of Liverpool, in that awful symposium. They frequently on approaching a town or village, descended so low as to be able to converse with the people, by whom they were often invited to make a call and take some refreshment: but such morning visits being rather inconvenient, they were obliged to decline the honor. The noble waving line made by the balloon in these descendings and ascendings, must have been the finest sights which occurred in the whole exhibition, and accordingly they seemed to excite the highest rapture in the rural spectators. They did not suffer much from cold: the mercury in the thermometer generally ranging about 33°. Unfortunately they had no barometer with them; but Mr. Livingston conjectures, that their utmost elevation might be about four miles and a quarter. Near the town of Stockton, they approached a range of hills, and on surmounting these, were somewhat startled at perceiving themselves within a few miles of the sea.—They immediately drew the valve, and alighted with all possible expedition. On reaching the ground, they threw out the grappling iron, the hook of which broke at the first pull and on throwing it out again another hook was bent straight, and the anchor again dragged. The balloon now forced itself through a thick hedge, the sudden jerk, occasioned by which, unfortunately pitched Mr. Livingston against the side of the car; by which his head and shoulder were severely bruised, that it was thought advisable to have him let blood, but he is now nearly recovered. At length, by continually keeping open the valve, the balloon gradually subsided in a stubble field, and was finally secured without having sustained the least damage.

We understand that the aerial travelers undertook this long voyage with the view of trying the power of the balloon, and its capability of crossing the channel from hence, the practicability of which is now ascertained.

Whilst the Balloon was majestically sweeping over the Fever Hospital, Brown-cow-hill, &c. on Tuesday, Mr. Livingston was observed standing on the outer edge of the frail car, that sustained him, and holding only with one of his hands on the netting. This instance of gratuitous daring excited the greatest astonishment, and some terror: like many other brilliant achievements, however, it was thought more worthy of admiration than of imitation.

BOSTON, NOVEMBER 9.

The American brig Macedonian, of Boston, Captain Eliphalet Smith, while at anchor in the port of Guernsey, near Lima, bound for Canton, having on board one hundred and forty-two thousand dollars, the proceeds of her cargo taken from Boston, was robbed of the whole amount by Lord Cochrane in the beginning of April last.

This appears to be the money which Lord Cochrane carried into Valparaiso on the 21st of June last. His share of the plunder he offered to the Chilean government, in a letter which we published a few days ago, on condition that it should be applied to the manufacture of rockets, and that the amount should be placed to his credit on the books of the treasury, to be paid when the independence of the country is established.

The following is a more particular account of the above transaction:

Extract of a letter, dated Santiago, August 12.

On his way from the siege of Lima, Lord Cochrane landed a few at Supe, a few leagues from which they met Capt. Smith, of the brig Macedonian, of Boston, and took him and 60 or 80,000 dollars he had with him, on board the O'Higgins. A paper signed by the Philippine consul, was found in his desk, stating the money to be paid for his cargo. $145,000 was to be at the risk of the purchasers until it should be on board the Macedonian.

Capt. Smith, after being on board a while, signed a document renouncing all claim to the money, and at Guarnay was allowed to join his vessel. She was scoured, but no money was found.—Lord Cochrane had information of more money, and from Guarnay went to Guambuco Bay, where he took from the French brig Gazella 62,000 dollars, which had been put on board by a clerk of the Philippine Co. at Guarnay. The captain refusing to sign a document to this effect, was obliged to go to Payta with the O'Higgins; but there, on the 12th April, he gave such a certificate, and was set at liberty.

The money taken from Capt. Smith, and from the French brig, has been distributed among the officers and crews, the government taking half, and this before any condemnation by a prize court. Some of the cargo was taken out of the Montezuma immediately after her capture, and the other articles since her arrival at Valparaiso. Her case is not yet decided. Mr. H. Hill is now here for the purpose of establishing the claim he has already laid in for all this property.

With regard to the robbery of the Macedonian, of the port of Boston, by Lord Cochrane, the Boston Yankee has the following remarks:—

It was reserved to Lord Cochrane to commit the first great and daring outrage on our flag. Every where we go unmolested, except where we come in contact with him.

Do our vessels of war fall in his way? Salutes, and bows, and scrapings are imperiously demanded by the noble Lord. Does our money come within his grasp, he seizes it with all the avidity of a shameless plunderer.

The brig Macedonian, of Boston, quitted Callao, as required by the PAPER BLOCKADE of Lord Cochrane. She had entered the port, and sold her cargo previous to that blockade, and had committed no violation of it.

But, forsooth, my Lord wanted money, and 142,000 Spanish milled dollars, the proceeds of the cargo of the Macedonian, were going from Callao to Guernsey, Guernsey being the port designated by Cochrane as the proper port for the Macedonian to land at.

My Lord wanted the money, and sans cere monie, he takes it. It may not be quite so easy for the noble Lord to get out of the scrape, when our vessels of war show themselves in force, in the south seas.

Extract of a letter to the Editor, dated Havana, October 22, 1819.

"I have but very little to communicate to you respecting our political situation. The inhabitants of this island are looking out for a war, without knowing whom they are going to contend with, as they are grinding their old swords and ceasing their guns for action. The troops lately arrived with the new Governor, are dying off rapidly, and I calculate at present but one third of the three thousand lately arrived fit for duty. Poor expedition! The governor has issued a proclamation forbidding the running at large of dogs under the penalty of three dollars, which is to be paid by the dog. The law it is said was the result of a month's consideration of Bernardo O'Higgins, a famous surgeon or a law, an author of the new comedy 'El Clerigo mas desollado.'"

FROM JAMAICA.

The following curious document was issued by McGregor previous to his sailing from Aux Cayes, in search of plunder. It is worthy of remark, that he states in the second article, should the prize money to each individual exceed eighty dollars, that it will be considered a liquidation of all claims against the government.

By his excellency Sir Gregor Mac Gregor, Captain General and Commander in Chief of the Land and Naval Forces of New Grenada, and Representative ad interim of the Civil Authority.

Whereas, having determined to make an attempt on the enemy's coast, previous to our proceeding to St. Andrews, and having, after mature deliberation, selected a point, where, from every information, ample resources may be had, as well as the certainty of capturing the place, with thirty men, I have decreed, and do decree as follows:

ART. 1. All property and specie captured shall be formed into one general fund, one half to be distributed among the captors according to their respective ranks, and the other half to be appropriated to the use of the government.

2. Should the proportion of prize money to each individual exceed the sum of eighty dollars, their receiving such shall be considered as a liquidation of all claims for bounty or pay due to them by government up to the date of the capture.

3. All officers and men co-operating in the capture, shall be entitled to a share of prize money, according to their rank although they may be on board of a vessel not carrying the flag of New Grenada.

4. The above shall be read and inserted in general orders, for the information of the army and navy of the republic.

Given on board the Mac Gregor sloop of war, Isle of Vache, July 6, 1819, and ninth year of the Independence.

Signed, GREG. MCGREGOR.

By his excellency's command, H. GUNNING, Sec.

LATEST FROM SPAIN.

Extract of a letter to the Editors of the Franklin Gazette, dated

MADRID, SEPT. 13.

"Yesterday the duke of San Fernando was appointed secretary of despatch, answering to our secretary of state. Salmon, who was acting as such, is made minister to Saxony. No person is designated to go to the United States. The duke San Fernando was selected, but was, on his earnest solicitation, excused by the king. The duke, who is connected by marriage with the reigning family, was apprehensive he should not, in the present posture of affairs, receive in America the attention his rank and royal connexion entitled him to expect. His character is said to be good.

"The fever among the troops in the vicinity of Cadiz, still rages with violence.

"The treaty between Spain and Portugal, for the delivery of Monte Video to the former, is not yet agreed upon. It begins to be questioned whether Portugal means ever to make one."

DIED, at his residence in Selin's Grove, Northumberland city, on Tuesday last, of typhus fever, SIMON SNYDER, late governor of the state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Snyder was a member of the convention which gave the present form of government to Pennsylvania.

He fulfilled the various public offices to which he was elected, with approbation.

As speaker of the house of representatives of the legislature of Pennsylvania he presided for several years, with distinguished honor. He was cool, collected, and affable.

As governor of the state, to which he was afterwards elected, he conducted himself with a firmness and dignity which elicited the plaudits even of his political opponents—personal enemies, we believe, he had none.—Freem. Jour.

DIED, at his residence in Hancock county, WILLIAM RABUN, Governor of the state of Georgia, in the 49th year of his age. He was a native of Halifax county, in North Carolina, and came to this state when about 15 years of age, and soon after fixed his residence in the county and at the place where he breathed his last. His integrity, talents, and amiable deportment, introduced him early into public life, and he successively filled the offices of magistrate, judge of the inferior court, representative and senator, and for the last two years has been the first magistrate of this state.—But to his political character was united one more transcendently important to himself, and more glorious and permanent in its consequences—he was a Christian. With the Baptist Church he became connected at the age of 17, and as we understand during his subsequent life, adorned the gospel by a holy life, and an upright conversation; and he met the messenger sent to terminate his earthly career without regret, having the confident assurance, that when "absent from the body, he should be present with the Lord," which would be far better than to continue here below.—Georg. Advertiser.

DIED, at his house in Northampton, suddenly, on the evening of the 7th inst. CALEB STRONG, late Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, aged seventy-five years. During the Sabbath preceding the evening of his death, he attended public worship, apparently in good health; but returned some at the close of the afternoon service, felt a slight spasmodic pain in his shoulder and breast. He thought little of that, however; and took tea with his family as usual. About six o'clock, feeling a recurrence of the pain, he retired to his bed and desired that a physician might be called. Presently, however, the pain again abated, and he conversed with his children who were present, with his accustomed cheerfulness, remarking among other things, upon the infirmities of body to which men of advanced age were subject. About seven o'clock, he again became somewhat distressed, and the physician, who was then present, having given him a few drops of laudanum, he arose from his bed with the intention of preparing to retire for the night; walked without assistance, which he declined, to the fire side, spoke of a feeling of coldness, and almost instantly, without the perceptible motion of a muscle, expired.—*North. MURDER!

On the 28th ult. a murder was committed on the road leading from St. Louis to Vincennes, 15 miles this side of Little Wabash. The particulars, we learn, of this horrid act, are: Two men who had been engaged by Col. Johnson in the steam-boat service on the Missouri, being on their return home, were overtaken by a person going the same road; they travelled in company near 20 miles, night coming on, they all stopped; some time in the night, a person, whether one of the company or some other person it is not known, made an attack on two of the men, killed one and cut the throat of the other: the one who had his throat cut lay, it is said, a day or two perfectly senseless; when he recovered his senses he did not recollect or know any thing about the affair. The third man is missing and has not been heard of since. We hope the perpetrator of this outrageous and barbarous deed may be detected and brought to condign punishment.

POPULATION OF NEW YORK.

From the National Advocate.

Census of the City.—We have received the official returns of the census taken by order of the corporation, from which it appears that there are one hundred and nineteen thousand six hundred and fifty seven inhabitants in the ten wards of this city; giving an increase within three years, of 19,038. In this census, there are 46,783 males; 41,137 females; 6,560 male aliens; 5,204 female aliens; 3,844 male colored people; 5,829 females of color; 95 male slaves; 255 female slaves. And it appears that, in three years, there has been a decrease of slaves to the number of 367. We are of opinion that the total number exceeds 120,000; and that the city rapidly increases.

We understand, that a Salt Spring has been opened on Col. Shelby's farm in Lincoln county, which promises to be very valuable to the proprietor, and highly useful to the surrounding country. It was discovered a few feet below the surface, and had evidently been used by the aborigines, previous to our settlement. The water is said to be abundant and saturated with salt.—Reporter.

THREE DOLLARS PER ANNUM—IN ADVANCE.

LEXINGTON, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 3.

Subscribers to the GAZETTE who are in arrears, and who are disposed to pay their accounts before the end of the year, will find it to their advantage to call as early as possible and settle them. Those at a distance, will forward the amount by mail.

The Congress of the United States, and the Legislature of this state, assemble on Monday next. It will probably be 13 or 14 days before the President's message will arrive in Lexington. That document will give a view of the course which the administration design to pursue towards Spain, relative to the conduct of that kingdom in rejecting the treaty ceding the Floridas. We hope the recommendations of the President will be of that manly character calculated to maintain the importance and dignity of the nation. South American affairs, it is expected, will also be glanced at. It is highly desirable that the executive may manifest a stronger disposition than he has hitherto done to promote the struggles of the enslaved inhabitants of that country for Independence. We have strong reasons to believe that Mr. Monroe, as a citizen, wishes the liberation of that people. But he entertains scruples, as the American executive head, which we think ought to moulder away before the grand and splendid object the patriots are attempting to achieve.

Concerning the police of our own state, very much is expected at the hands of the legislature. Relief of some description or other is loudly called for. The general pressure of the times—the rapid encroachments of banking operations upon the happiness of the people—and the great community of shaving and speculating establishments existing among us, compel the mass of virtuous population to unite in memorializing that body for redress. We believe, and sincerely hope, that an unanimity will prevail this winter at the state metropolis, which has not been known there for many years.

Besides these things, it is expected and feared that Mr. CRITTENDEN will vacate his seat in the Senate of the United States. In this event it will be highly important for the legislature to select an able man to fill his place. We should dislike to see the services of Col. RICH. M. JOHNSON dispensed with as a home representative. But at the same time could not offer an objection if his very useful and patriotic abilities were carried into the American Senate. That veteran has sacrificed 14 years of his life, although yet but a young man, to legislative pursuits. We are informed that he will not again object to serving his country in the character of a Senator, if that country should please to draw upon him.

FIRES.

On Thursday night the 25th ult. the barn and stables of Mr. James Ingles, a respectable farmer living about ten miles from Lexington, was set on fire and entirely consumed. We understand that two negroes have been apprehended and lodged in the Paris jail, for the above.

Almost every section of the union is suffering by the ravages of fire. Wilmington, in North Carolina, has suffered more than any other town this season. There were about 300 houses consumed. The pecuniary loss is estimated at a vast amount.

Gen. MILLER, governor of Arkansas, on his way to that country, was politely received at Louisville—and a public dinner given him.

We have received the first number of a paper entitled the LITERARY CABINET, edited by JOSEPH BUCHANAN, esq. at Cincinnati. We wish him success in his undertaking, as we know him to be eminently qualified, and a firm republican. He deserves the confidence of an enlightened community.

As the legislature commences its session on Monday next—and soon after the proceedings of congress will reach us, we have given up our editorial head this week, in order to incorporate as much miscellaneous matter into our columns as possible.

[COMMUNICATED.]

Messrs. Norwell & Cavins—I was one who did attend the dinner at Maxwell's Spring, the day some self-constituted nabobs, gave a dinner to the President, in Lexington, and I thought that I did not commit any political sin by going there, and I do really think, that if I even did "prefer" not to dine with the president, that I omitted no act of public or private duty. Why then, I do ask, has the Monitor made such a buzz about it? That paper seems to make of it, even a national affair. This reminds me of the French courtier, who, when the minister, Roland, first appeared at Court with strings in his shoes, after the revolution, in a spiteful manner, pointed them out to the celebrated general Dumorier. "Ah, sir!" replied the General sarcastically, "we are all ruined." The dinner and the shoe strings appear to me of about the same importance, and equally worthy of notice. The Monitor is welcome, to all the benefit which it can derive from either; and so is every sycophant and parasite of power.

But, gentlemen, how is it, and why is it, that the Monitor has suddenly become, so much the partisan of Mr. Monroe, that a citizen, who, "prefers" to dine at his own table, or at Maxwell's spring, with his old friends, where he had long been accustomed to celebrate the birth day of our independence—commits a sin, not to dine on that day, with Mr. Monroe? How has the Monitor acquired such a sudden attachment to Mr. Monroe, and his politics? That paper opposed Mr. Monroe's election—opposed the war—said, as all other papers of the same stamp did do, that it was immoral and irreligious to support the men who made the war and waged it—and considered Mr. Monroe's plan of conscription, as a plan of most outrageous tyranny. I agreed then with Mr. Monroe in all his propositions, and gave to them my humble support: but now, says that paper I have sinned politically, because I have "preferred" to dine in any other company than Mr. Monroe's. I have no doubt, the editor of that paper would at any time during the late war, have "preferred" to have paid his share of the expenses of a public dinner in honor of Mr. Monroe, than to have fought in any of its battles. Did the Monitor politically sin when it opposed the acquisition of the means to fight those battles, successfully, as much as I did, when I did not go to the dinner? I submit the question with confidence to all who fought in the late war, and even to all who drank and ate at the dinner.

With the editor of the Monitor, I desire to have no contest. Victory over him, would acquire for me no honor, and do me no good. He would not now be noticed, but for his reiterated mistakes, or misstatements, if you please to call them so, about an affair of no importance; but which have heretofore deceived, and are calculated to deceive, the public, respecting the conduct of several individuals, who, on the day alluded to, were innocently engaged in celebrating the birth of our independence.

Were I disposed to be ill-natured with Mr. Hunt, and many other men, I could say with plausibility, at least, you received Mr. Monroe with pomp and parade; you made for him parties and dinners; you sat with him, toasted him and flattered him; you bowed to him, and obtained his smiles. And why all this? Because you liked him? Because he had before served his country? Because he was a revolutionary character? Because his political conduct made you think he was the man best suited to fill the first office in the gift of the people? No—no—no—in your attention to him no such feelings influenced you; for you opposed his election! But when he came here he was president. He had many fat offices in his gift—many fat contracts at his disposal; and these you expected to obtain by adulation. By inattention to him you could not obtain favor; but by courtesies, every thing. How far these thoughts may have influenced many, I do not intend to enquire; but the public can make the proper commentary.

UNITED STATES BANK.

The Report of the Committee of the Stockholders of the bank of the U. States, dated the 5th inst. signed WILLIAM DRAYTON, Chairman, and ordered to be published under the direction of J. GALES, Jun. Secretary, contains the following paragraph, viz:

"In the city of Philadelphia, the local banks have received from the parent bank 1,150,972 dollars in specie, more than they have paid to it. No documents which the committee have been possessed of, exhibit the specie transactions between the bank of the United States and its offices and local banks generally, but the books of the institution in this city show that the balances due to it by the local banks amount to 2,902,658 dollars, and that the balances due by it to the local banks amount to 941,000 dollars, manifesting that the large sum of 1,561,658 dollars remains due to the institution, for which it is entitled to demand specie, but which it has forborne to do, although, in order to support the credit of the country, it has purchased great quantities of specie at a considerable expense."

In the National Intelligencer of the 13th instant, edited by the Secretary of the Committee and of the Stockholders, a writer, in reference to this part of the Report, makes an assertion in the following words, viz:

"Numerous state banks have failed, and, by the Report in Philadelphia are much in debt to the bank of the United States, and must soon be broken if they aid Merchants to pay Duties to Government."

From the want of more perspicuity, and a more just arrangement of the words of the Report, an impression has been made, not only on the mind of the writer in the Intelligencer, but extensively in the United States, that at the date of the Report, the banks in Philadelphia were indebted to the bank of the United States 2,502,658 dollars; and that the bank of the United States, at the same time, was indebted to the banks in Philadelphia 941,000 dollars; manifesting that the large sum of 1,561,648 dollars was due as an aggregate balance from the banks in Philadelphia, and for which the bank of the United States was entitled to demand specie.

To correct an impression so prejudicial to the credit of the banks in Philadelphia, the undersigned deem it their duty to state, that, in bringing into view the balances between the bank of the United States and the banks of Philadelphia, it appears that, on the said 5th inst. there was due to the bank of the United States from some of the said banks the amount of 63,136 dollars, and due by the said bank of the United States to the rest of the said banks the amount of 49,055 dollars; showing the general balance, in favor of the bank of the United States, to be 14,081 dollars, which was the only sum for which the bank of the United States was entitled to demand specie, on that day, from the local banks in Philadelphia.

TENNESSEE LEGISLATURE.

NOV. 20.

Sundry Lottery bills, for the purpose of advancing literature were read and passed. A bill to establish a county in the south-west corner of the state, by the name of Shelby, in honor of Gov. Shelby, of Kentucky, was read and passed. The resolutions to appropriate the funds to be drawn from the sales of the Cherokee lands, were taken up. Mr. Miller said Congress had scruples of their powers to advance internal improvements in the individual states. He therefore advocated the appropriation of said funds to the advancement of literature, and the improvement of the navigation of our rivers. Mr. Mitchell who this day attended the house, descanted with great fluency on the importance of improving our internal navigation. He showed a thorough knowledge of the geography of the country, and the relative importance of large rivers, Cumberland and Tennessee and their tributary streams. He then turned his attention to literature; advocated particularly the country schools and academies, and an University, where universal science might be acquired. He had no partiality to our colleges. Little or no good had arisen, or would arise from them. They had heretofore excited, and would continue to excite local prejudices, which should be buried in oblivion.

P. W. Humphreys, Esq. was this day elected Judge of the 5th circuit; James Rogers, Esq. attorney general of the 5th district, and John Montgomery, Esq. attorney general of the 11th district.

ALABAMA LEGISLATURE.

Tuesday, November 2.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT TO GEN. ANDREW JACKSON.

The senate and house of representatives respectively passed a resolution inviting Gen. Jackson to a seat within the bar of each of their houses.

On the 9th inst. both houses of the general assembly unanimously adopted a set of resolutions which will be found below.

Messrs. Rose, Garth and Farmer, a committee on the part of the senate, and Messrs. Lamkin and Everitt from the house of representatives, waited upon Gen. Jackson on the 6th inst. and Col. Rose in behalf of the committee, delivered to him the following address, together with a copy of the annexed resolutions.

Maj. Gen. Jackson—The general assembly of the state of Alabama, have instructed us to present you with these resolutions as a testimony of their high respect and gratitude, for the important services you have rendered to the United States of America, and particularly to this state.

Permit us to add, sir, as individuals, our best wishes for your prosperity and happiness.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Alabama in general assembly convened, That the thanks of the general assembly be, and the same are hereby presented to Major General Andrew Jackson for his valor, patriotism, and meritorious conduct during the late war, but particularly for the decisive victory obtained over the British forces at New Orleans.

Resolved, That he is more particularly entitled to the admiration and affection of the citizens of this state, because of his military skill and indefatigable exertions, our exposed frontiers have been saved from indiscriminate slaughter.

Resolved, That his whole course during his military career, received our entire approbation.

Resolved, That his visit to this place at this time, affords us the liveliest satisfaction, as it enables us to express to him personally the high sense we entertain of his services, and our perfect confidence in his talents, integrity and patriotism.

Resolved, That a joint committee be appointed to wait on Major General Andrew Jackson, and present to him the foregoing resolutions.

To which the general replied—

Gentlemen—I have received with the highest gratification the resolutions of the general assembly of the state of Alabama. The honor conferred on me by your legislative body is accepted with feelings of the warmest sensibility.

The first pride of the soldier should be to discharge the duties of the field with zeal and fidelity, and his first reward the approbation of his countrymen; and it is a source of peculiar satisfaction to have received a manifestation of the confidence of those who have gloriously participated in the fatigues and dangers of the camp.

As a testimony of my gratitude for the sense of my public services which you have been pleased to express, permit me, gentlemen, to present to you, and through you, to the honorable body of which you are a committee, the assurance of my high consideration and regard.

I am, Gentlemen, very respectfully, your ob't. serv't.

ANDREW JACKSON.

Col. H. Rose, Chairman, &c.

We had the pleasure yesterday to receive a copy of the Declaration of Independence, published by Mr. BIXBY, of Philadelphia. This splendid work is but recently completed, and we assert with confidence, surpasses in elegance of design and taste, beauty of execution, and faithfulness of representation, any production which has ever appeared in this country. It is a proud specimen of the advancement of the arts in America—and we cannot more highly compliment the author of it than by saying that he has done ample justice to the great event which it is intended to record.

Balt. American.

A letter to the editors, from a gentleman in Natchez, (Mississippi,) announces the death of Dr. John H. Robinson. He was a gentleman of no ordinary character. The traits which have most distinguished his life, have been the intrepidity, energy and secrecy, which fit men for confidential missions, or for heading revolutions. He was at the head of a former attempt to revolutionize Texas, which failed from adverse circumstances; and we are confident, that his decease will be a conclusive blow to the Expedition fitted out to revolutionize the Spanish province of Texas. Indeed, our correspondent adds, that the Expedition has already entirely failed of its object, for the want of funds and provisions. We regret the death of Dr. Robinson, who had he lived, might have been a distinguished as well as useful man.—[Nat. Intel.]

It gives us much pain to state, that a letter received by yesterday's mail, from Raleigh, gives information, which there is too much reason to believe substantially correct, of the dangerous illness of the Hon. J. C. CALHOUN, Secretary of War, in Rockingham county, North Carolina, on his return to the Seat of Government.

PRINTERS TO POSTMASTERS.

A letter, of which the following is a copy, it appears, by a publication in the Baltimore newspapers, has been addressed by the editor of the Richmond Enquirer to the Postmaster at every office to which any copy of the Enquirer is sent. We respectfully request, in our name and that of every printer of a newspaper in the United States, that this letter may be considered as a Circular from each one of the whole fraternity of Printers, to each and every Postmaster in the United States. Independently of its advertising custom, we believe there is scarcely a newspaper printed in the country which would not at present involve the publishers in a regular annual loss. It is therefore no less an act of justice than of kindness that those who have it in their power should protect us from unnecessary loss. In the hope that it may contribute to so desirable an end, we copy the Enquirer's Circular, and adopt it as our own.

[Nat. Intel.]

RICHMOND, Nov. 6, 1819.

Sir—In these times, it is a point of some importance to save as much as I can. One dead paper, at one Post Office, may be a trifle; but one paper, lying dead at 150 or 200 Offices, may amount in the year to a very serious loss. I have therefore determined to address a circular letter to each of the Post Offices to which the Enquirer is forwarded, respectfully requesting the Postmaster to inform me if there be any papers not taken up by the subscriber to whom it is addressed.

It would be an additional obligation to me, if you, sir, would add why the paper is not taken up; if the subscriber be dead, who is his representative, if removed, to what state he has emigrated; and any other information, touching the matter, which you may deem important for me to possess.

You would also serve me essentially by informing me, whether the Enquirer comes regularly to your Office; and whether there be any change in it, or in the run of the mails, which might make it arrive sooner at its place of destination.

I have nothing else to offer you, sir, for any attention you may pay me in this way, than the sincere thanks of one who works hard for the bread which he eats, and who is therefore unwilling to throw away any of his work! I am encouraged to hope for success in this application, by the recollection that three years ago I made a similar experiment, whose results were as pleasing to me at the time as they have been profitable. I have now on file more than 100 very obliging letters, in reply to mine; and the information thus kindly communicated saved me from 50 to 100 papers annually, which had otherwise been wasted "upon the desert air."

Any information you can furnish, now or hereafter, about the transmission of papers, will be gratefully acknowledged, by,

Sir, your obedient servant,
THOMAS RITCHIE.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 9.

The return from Europe of Major General Harper is said to be much lamented by his friends as well as himself, since the intelligence of the demise of Field Marshal Prince Blucher, reached this country. It has been quaintly remarked that he might have succeeded, through the interest of his intimate friend, the Duke of Wellington, to the station and rank of the prince; and it was the more to be regretted, as his "blushing honors," his hard-earned laurels, are about to be shorn from his illustrious brow, by the governor and council of Maryland!

FROM THE MERIDIAN DAYLIGHT.

Mr. SOWSHINE—The song which will be found below, was sung, after the toasts, at the first celebration of the abolition of the Slave Trade, by the African Society at Boston. If you think it will afford your readers any amusement, you are at liberty to insert it.

PHILLIS, DE ROSE OF DE HILL.

TUNE—JESSIE OF DUBLANE.

De sun had gone down o'er de Hill of West
Bosson,
And leff all de rogue, he and she in de place,
When Cesar he new Sunday hat and coat toss
on,
And go to see Phillis and look in de face.
How sweet be de rum, and de sugar and water,
When enuf you can get in de belly to fill,
But sweeter be Cato mose bootiful daughter,
De lubly Miss Phillis, de Rose of de Hill.

She blush like a blanket wid hole in de corner,
When Cesar he ask her to make he is own,
And say no expreshum he make upon her,
And de heart in her belly be cold as a stone.
O, den how she sigh, and her bress keep in motion,
When Cesar he ask if to kiss he she will—
So den he fall down on de knee in debotion,
To lubly Miss Phillis, de Rose of de Hill.

How bless was de day Cesar fust see he Phillis,
And nex day at night he go see her again,
And he fetch her some posies and roses and lilies,
And old Cato, he farder, a bottle of gin, Den soon to de parson wid haste dey were going,
And Cesar of lub berry soon had he fill,
And de rum and de whiskey in stream was a flowing,
When Cesar did marry de Rose of de Hill.

We are thankful to our customers for the liberal support given us in our line of business;
particularly those who have made us CASH PAYMENTS, or paid off their accounts when they became due. But we are compelled to call upon those who have not been so punctual, and who have accounts of long standing, to pay them off immediately, or close them by giving their Notes. Groceries cannot be purchased without CASH, but if they could, we find from experience, that it is better to pay cash for them, as we are thereby enabled not only to purchase at a cheaper rate but to sell on better terms to our customers. We are therefore under the necessity of declining to give credit from this date, which, according to Dr. Franklin's maxim, will promote the interest of the purchaser as well as our own.

50 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from the subscriber, living 5 miles from Lexington, on the Hickman road, a NEGRO MAN, named BAZIL. About 25 or 26 years old, about 6 feet high and not very slender made, as black as negroes generally are, of mild countenance and speech.
It is impossible to say precisely what time he left Lexington, as he had been hired out some time; but the presumption is, on or about the 20th of October. He wore away a dark coloured great coat lined with red flannel, and a blue close coat; but can describe his clothing no farther, as he may no doubt change all, and attempt to pass as a free man. I have strong suspicions, that under a pass issued or given to a negro man, who obtains his passes from the Clerk of the Fayette County Court, under a deed of emancipation from James McClary to certain Negroes which have yet an undetermined suit with the heirs of said Mc-Clary to obtain their freedom, has been obtained by the said Negro. There are circumstances to induce a belief that he rode away a sorrel mare, the property of Mr. Wm. T. Bryant, and that he took with him a pair of horseman's pistols, the property of Capt. Jas. Kay.
The above reward will be paid on his being taken and confined in jail so that I get him if out of the state, if taken within the state, a reward of 25 Dollars, and reasonable charges in either case if brought home.

For Sale or to Hire,

A NEGRO MAN,

WHO has been used to driving a team and working on a farm for several years, but has recently been employed as a waiter in a Tavern. His character for industry, sobriety and honesty, is indisputable, and the owner's reason for selling him is on account of his leaving the state, and the man having a wife and family, from whom he does not wish to part. A long credit will be given.

brick house, located in a valuable and convenient part of the town, and will be sold separately or with the house to suit the purchaser.
Terms liberal, both as to price and time of payment; and we believe, that we can assert without presumption, that no place in Kentucky would better support an establishment of its size than Versailles, where there is a regular and increasing demand for Cotton Yarns. Apply to

Alexander Cranston & Co.—compts. against
John P. Schatzell, &c.—defts.

IN CHANCERY.
I, JOHN H. HANNA, Clerk of the Seventh Circuit Court of the United States in and for the District of Kentucky, do hereby certify that the order of injunction awarded herein, restraining the defendant Schatzell from disposing of the effects of the Firm of J. P. Schat-zell & Co. was at the present term rescinded, and that the said John P. Schatzell has been invested with power and authority to receive and collect all money due to the said firm of J. P. Schatzell & Co. and John P. Schatzell, and to settle and adjust all accounts which relate to the partnership.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto subscribed my name, and affixed the L. S. seal of said Court—this 22d day of December 1818, and of the Independence of the United States the 43d.
JOHN H. HANNA.

NOTICE.

ALL persons indebted to J. P. Schatzell, or the late Firm of J. P. Schatzell & Co. are requested to make immediate payment to the subscriber, who alone is authorized to receive the same. Those to whom said firms stand indebted will also please to apply to him for settlement.
